

Shifting Teacher Practice Course

Southfields Teaching School Alliance/IOE

This is a bespoke teaching and learning programme, developed in conjunction with the Institute of Education that gives participants the opportunity to reflect on their current classroom practice. Participants will be supported by highly experienced facilitators and coaches in the development of their pedagogy, through various activities, including an action research project.

Previous participants have commented:

“I was able to put the learning into practice. It was a programme where you can see a difference... focus on what you need.”

“As a joint co-ordinator for Teaching and Learning at Francis Barber PPU, I highly recommend this course for any teacher who needs to improve their practice in the classroom, hence getting the best out of their students and ultimately ensuring progress is made.”
